Metcalf Article Stresses It Pays to Advertise

J. R. METCALF, Master Photographer of this city, has an interesting article in the November issue of Profession Photographer titled "It Pays to Keep Pounding," with the sub-heading "I'm Sold on Advertising."

Mr. Metcalf uses illustrations of four of his advertisements that he carried in The Daily Register. They are small ads on reverse plates (white on black). In his opinion size to him is not nearly as important as consistency in advertising.

"The all important thing," he writes, "is to keep your studio and the fact that you make portraits before your prospects. 'Notice that I use the word 'prospects' and not 'customers.' Too many photographers like to think of customers as their personal property when, actually, once the customers have walked out of the studio door they are again prospects."

That's why he advocates consistency in advertising. He points out that he advertises steadily, appropriating four per cent of his gross business for the job. And he states:

"I think the big mistake made by many photographers in smaller towns is that they take the attitude that everybody knows them anyway; so why advertise? Naturally, I like to feel the same way about the people in my town, but just the same I prefer to play it safe and I have made it my business to insure that week in and week out, whenever any of them happen to be thinking about photographs, they will be reminded of my studio."

THIS NEWSPAPER has reported all kinds of collections kept by people and one of the collections of Atty. Scerall Thompson is his Notary Public commissions.

He has them all together, right behind each other in a frame in his office, with the current commission, of course, up next to the glass.

Interesting thing is that his nine four-year commissions, which started in 1923, bear the signatures of six Illinois governors and one acting governor.

The commissions were signed in 1923 and 1927 by Gov. Len Small, the one in 1931 by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, in 1935 and 1939 by Gov. Henry Horner, in 1943 by Gov. Dwight Green, in 1947 by Acting Governor Hugh Cross, in 1951 by Gov. Adlai Stevenson and in 1955 by Gov. Stratton.

No Plans to Reduce Time of Service For GIs in Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Gen. I. D. White, U. S. Eighth Army commander, said today the Army has no plans to reduce the length of time infantrymen have to spend in Korea.

"There is nothing under consideration now," White said. "I think it will remain 16 months." He added that because of America's worldwide military commitments the Army can not afford to reduce the present tour of duty.

American foot soldiers long have complained that they are required to serve in Korea longer than the one year or less spent by U. S. Air Force personnel.

Mother Indicted in Daughter's Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grand jury, which deliberated only one minute, Friday indicted Mrs. Gertrude Silver on accessory and conspiracy charges in the abortion death of her pretty daughter, Mrs. Doris Jean Ostreicher, 22.

The wealthy 49-year-old matron was accused of bringing her daughter, a bride of two months, to a North Philadelphia flat last Aug. 24 where the fatal abortion attempt allegedly occurred.

OIL REPORT: Big News In Week's Oil Report Is Hot Spot Near Galatia; One Completion

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

There were four dry holes and one completion for the period ending Dec. 7 in Saline county, where the big news was a hot spot a mile and a half west of Galatia, Delwood's T. G. Lewis No. 1, SEC SW NW, 15-8S-5E. It flowed 75 barrels of oil an hour after fracture in the Aux Vases at 2853-72.

(The Daily Register yesterday carried an account of the completion of this well. Delwood reported that the well flowed 40 barrels of oil per hour under choke the first hour it was in production.)

Completed was Sun Oil Co.'s Justin Reynolds No. 1, SEC SE NE, 26-8S-5E (Brushy), the well flowing 50 barrels of oil per day thru choke from the Cypress at 2559-69.

Find Bullet Riddled Body Of Pretty Coed

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The bullet-riddled body of a pretty brunette coed was found behind a clump of bushes on the University of Omaha campus today.

Every available police officer in the city was put on the trail of her "sacred" killer.

The girl, Carolyn Marie Nevins, 20, was a highly popular university senior who had recently won a beauty and popularity contest at a local Masonic organization. Her school work had rated excellent, the university said, and she had won superior honors in debate.

Carolyn was shot five times at close range, apparently only minutes after she left her part-time job at the university library about 10 p. m. Friday night. Her body was found at 4:35 a. m. today.

Police Chief Harry Green called every available uniformed officer and every detective on the force to extra-normal duty.

Det. Inspector Ernest Brown said "I believe the good Lord will help us in this case. We've got to solve it. If we don't, decent people will be afraid to send their daughters to school."

An autopsy was scheduled to determine whether the girl was sexually attacked. Police said her clothing was disarranged and they believed there was a "very strong" possibility that she was killed by a sex fiend.

Carolyn had worked late at the library, her father, an insurance executive said. He became worried shortly after midnight when she failed to arrive home because she usually was punctual. He called police, who went to the university campus.

The girl's mother was notified of the tragedy at Hastings, Neb., where she was attending a church meeting.

Bullet wounds were found in the girl's arms, her chest, and side.

Sentenced for Bomb Death of Mother-in-Law

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Harry Washburn was found guilty of murder by a jury of 10 men and two women on a televised trial Friday night and sentenced to life imprisonment for booby-trapping his ex-mother-in-law's automobile.

But Washburn talked before live television cameras immediately after the trial and said he felt the case would be reversed on appeal and "I will be vindicated ultimately."

The case was probably the first televised murder trial in the nation. District Judge D. W. Bartlett broke the precedent and permitted the trial to be telecast live to the Waco area by KWTX-TV when both the prosecution and defense agreed.

Washburn was found guilty of killing wealthy socialite Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver by attaching a dynamite bomb to the ignition of her automobile. She was killed instantly when she pressed the starter button of her automobile outside her mother's home in San Angelo, Tex., the morning of Jan. 19.

The state contended Washburn planted the bomb intending to kill her husband, architect Harry N. Weaver, but Mrs. Weaver was the first to use the car the next morning.

The state charged that Washburn tried to hire at least three persons, including a former lady wrestler, to kill Weaver and get him out of the way so he could force money out of Mrs. Weaver.

Failing to hire a killer, the state said, Washburn attempted to do the job himself, but bungled and killed the wrong person.

Eisenhower to Undergo Heart Exam at Hospital

President Will Stay at White House Until Tuesday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower will undergo at Washington's Walter Reed hospital today the first x-ray and fluoroscopic examinations of his heart since he left a Denver hospital Nov. 12.

After his examination, expected to require about 90 minutes, the President will go to the White House and remain there until late Tuesday when he returns to Gettysburg. While at the White House he will meet Monday with Republican congressional leaders and on Tuesday with a bipartisan group of House and Senate leaders.

The Walter Reed examination was expected to confirm the steady improvement the President has shown in recovering from the heart attack he suffered at Denver Sept. 24.

Await Latest Report

Political figures awaited the latest report on the President's health with keen interest. Several top Republicans have expressed the opinion that if the President's recovery continues satisfactorily, he will run for a second term. But Mr. Eisenhower is expected to keep his intentions secret until sometime next year.

The main purpose of the examinations by the President's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, and Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief of cardiology services at Walter Reed, was to determine whether the President has had any heart enlargement as a result of his stepped-up activities.

Mr. Eisenhower was last examined by x-ray at Fitzsimons Army hospital in Denver Nov. 12. At that time, his physicians said there was no indication of heart enlargement.

Had Daily Checkups

While at Gettysburg the President has had daily or twice-daily checkups but x-ray facilities were not available.

Ready for Mr. Eisenhower's examination at Walter Reed was the hospital's presidential suite, three handsomely furnished rooms and a private bath on the third floor of the east wing.

It will be the first time Mr. Eisenhower ever has used the suite. Former President Truman stayed there briefly once, but except for that occasion it has been used chiefly for other important persons such as cabinet members and leading military figures.

The President met with his cabinet for two hours and 25 minutes Friday at the presidential retreat near Thurmont, Md. It was announced afterward that he would send a special message to Congress next year on the farm situation.

Mother, Daughter Die in Crash

AUBURN, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. June McQuilly, 47, and her 3-year-old daughter, Sharon, were killed Friday when their car smashed into a bridge abutment.

The driver, Warren Shaack, 41, was injured. Police said Shaack was driving north on Ill. 4 when his convertible hit a steel guard rail along the highway and then crashed into the abutment one mile north of Auburn.

The car was cut in half by the impact.

Christmas Gifts Brighten Smile of Girl, 8, Horribly Burned Last March

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Eight-year-old Bonnie Simpson, horribly burned in a fire last March 28, isn't complaining a bit because she won't be able to leave the hospital for Christmas at home.

The only dark spot in the holidays for the courageous West Virginia girl and her family is the fact that her daddy needs a job.

Bonnie was more dead than alive that morning eight months ago when an ambulance brought her to Greene County Memorial Hospital from the village of Fairview, W. Va., just across the state line. She was warming herself in front of an open heating stove just after she got out of bed when her night-dress suddenly burst into flames.

Tiny Body Seared

Her grandmother, Mrs. Rose Brock, 68, beat out the fire with her hands, but not before most of her granddaughter's tiny body was seared.

Twenty-four hours later, the sorrowful family was struck another telling blow, Bonnie's father, Lewis Simpson, lost his job as a structural steel worker at Fair-

Husband Held in Investigation of Vicious Murder of Wife, Daughter

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — Police held a laundry operator in custody today while they investigated the vicious murder of his red-haired wife and seven-year-old daughter.

Officers questioned Philip Van Eeghen for more than seven hours Friday night about the death of his wife, Patricia, 39, and little Phyllis Ann, whose bodies were found Friday in the family car parked across the street from a funeral home.

Sheriff H. T. Williams said he planned to hold Van Eeghen in custody, apparently for more questioning today.

Police intensified a search of a sandy area covered with sand spurs near a laundry operated by Van Eeghen and his mother, Mrs. Teddy Van Eeghen.

Blood In Area

Officers found blood in the area and hoped to find other clues, possibly including the murder weapon.

Patrolman Charles Collis found the body of Mrs. Van Eeghen slumped on the right side of the front seat of the car, her red hair matted with blood and sand spurs. She was covered with a blanket.

The child's body was found locked in the trunk of the car.

Police Chief John Thomas said the woman apparently had been struck from behind with a heavy instrument and toppled forward into the sand. Her head was slashed in two places and one of her shoes was missing. Police said they found two nickels in the other shoe.

The daughter had also been hit on the head. She was still dressed in the clothes she wore to school.

Taken To Hospital

Van Eeghen, who broke down and was taken to a hospital after arriving at the scene where the bodies were found, told police he last saw his wife and daughter about 5 p. m. Thursday.

He said Mrs. Van Eeghen, who worked for an insurance company in Cocoa, Fla., had gone to a near-

Mother of Five Children Killed; Seven Injured

Pilot Bails Out Before Crash; Will Be Questioned

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) — U. S. Air Force officials today opened an investigation into the crash of an American jet fighter plane which plowed through the roof of a crowded hospital near Sheffield Friday night with its wingloads of ammunition exploding.

A 46-year-old mother of five children was killed when the F84F Thunderstreak skimmed the glass roof of a ward in the Lodge Moor Hospital, tore along a glass-covered corridor into another ward and blew up on a lawn outside.

Seven other persons, including three children, were injured.

The pilot, Lt. Roy Evans, 24, Pulaski, Tenn., bailed out before the crash and parachuted safely from 35,000 feet. He was hospitalized for "observation" and Air Force officials said he would be questioned as soon as his condition permits.

Forced To Bail Out

Evans radioed his base at Sculthorpe shortly before the crash that his engine was afire and he was trying to crashland. A few minutes later he sent a message saying he was forced to bail out.

The pilotless plane crashed into the hospital roof like a blazing meteor. Ammunition stored in the wings exploded as it smashed through the crowded wards. The explosions and the whine of ricocheting bullets mingled with the terrified screams of patients and nurses.

The dead woman was Mrs. Elsie Murdoch, who was scheduled to be released from the hospital in three days. Luckiest person in the hospital was 19-year-old nurse Rita Richardson, who according to police, had left Mrs. Murdoch's bedside only two minutes before.

Rushed To Scene

Senior Air Force officers from the U. S. base at Burtonwood drove 60 miles through a driving rainstorm across the Pennine Mountains to the scene of the crash. They brought with them trucks and men to recover the wreckage and began an immediate on-the-spot inquiry.

Air Force sources said that Evans radioed he was running out of fuel before reporting his engine was on fire. Ground controllers at Burtonwood gave him landing instructions but the Thunderstreak screamed over the field and headed eastward.

There were 28 patients in each of the wards but hospital staff members converged from all parts of the hospital at the sound of the crash to carry them to safety.

Bits of blazing wreckage from the plane touched off a fire but hospital workers managed to keep it in check until the arrival of firemen.

Meanly Warns Labor Must Not Be Deprived Of Political Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — George Meany, president of the massive CIO-AFL labor union, warned Friday that the newly merged labor force would form its own political party if it is deprived of activity in the two existing parties.

Meany said the 16-million-member union did not want a labor party but made it clear the union would not hesitate to form one if "deprived of its rights to exercise its political voice by endorsing candidates."

Meany made his remarks at the closing session of the National which had just heard Charles R. Slight Jr., NAM board chairman, Association of Manufacturers, voice the fear that the merged union might attempt to "seize political control of the country."

Dr. Ivy Files $360,000 Suit Against Stoddard

CHICAGO (AP) — The two-year dispute over the controversial cancer drug, krebiozen, has resulted in a $360,000 libel suit against former University of Illinois President George D. Stoddard.

The suit was filed Friday by Dr. Andrew Ivy, head of the university's department of clinical science, who has been a staunch defender of proposals to investigate krebiozen's possibilities.

Ivy charged that Stoddard's book, "Krebiozen, the Great Cancer Mystery," had caused damage to his reputation. Ivy had already filed suit as a result of the book's publication in New York.

The controversy over the value of krebiozen resulted in Stoddard's departure from the university and the end of Ivy's post as head of the school's professional schools in Chicago.

Brucellosis Down—Not Out

Brucellosis has been knocked down in Illinois. But it hasn't been knocked out yet, and there's an important round yet to go, declares Dr. H. S. Bryan of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Incidence of the disease in cattle has decreased steadily since a concerted drive against it was started about 15 years ago. The number of reactors among blood-tested cattle has dropped from 5.1 percent in 1943-44 to 2.1 percent
for the last fiscal year.

However, Dr. Bryan says, as long as a reservoir of brucellosis exists in some herds in the state, the threat of infection remains for neighboring herds that are clean now.

Dec. 31 is Final Date to Complete Soil Practices

The final date for completing soil conservation practices under the 1955 Agricultural Conservation program is Dec. 31, warned Herman Driskell, chairman of the Saline County ASC committee.

All of the many practices approved during the year represent good conservation measures, continued
Mr. Driskell, and are projects which will improve the farms and community. Much of the work has already been accomplished, but there are some approved practices which have not yet been started.

"In these instances we urge that immediate action be taken not only to complete the projects involved, but also to report such completion to this office. All of the materials practices (like limestone and rock phosphate) must be fully accomplished by Dec. 31 in order to earn the cost-sharing assistance which has been approved. For some practices an extension of time may be granted if they are substantially completed by such date. Any questions of this nature should be brought to the attention of our county office personnel," Mr. Diskell states.

In addition to completing practices under the program by the required date, a report of performance must be placed on file by not later than Jan. 13, 1956.

Some limited funds are still available for offering additional cost-sharing assistance in 1955. Farmers interested in projects like limestone and rock phosphate which can be completed by the end of the year should immediately call the ASC office in the city hall, Harrisburg.

Webb Reports

Yearling steers self-fed a pelleted ration made greater gains on less feed than steers self-fed the same ration as a meal. That is what Bob Webb and George Cmarik learned in a 150-day drylot feeding trial at the Station. The ration was a mixture of 65 percent ground ear corn, 5 percent molasses, 10 percent soybean oil meal and 20 percent ground hay. In addition they were fed corn silage.

In a report at Cattle Feeders
Day on Nov. 4, Bob Webb said that combining hay and concentrates in the ration controlled the intake of concentrates in the self-feeding program. Steers were put on full feed rapidly and easily without digestive disturbances or danger of founder. This fact is reflected in the excellent gain made by both lots. The steers on the pelleted ration gained an average of 2.75 pounds a day. The steers on the meal ration gained 2.58 pounds.

On the basis of performance in this trial, there would be no advantage for pelleting if the cost for pelleting exceeded $6.39 a ton.

Water Supply

Winter has arrived in southern Illinois. Temperatures are hovering near the zero mark. Farm pounds and water tanks are iced over, and many livestock are forced to walk through wintry blasts to sip tooth-chilling water through a small hole in the ice. If stock drink at all under such conditions, they drink too little for health and thrift.

Effects of High Price Supports

Do high fixed price supports help to control or reduce production of a particular product?

Experiences in numerous countries, besides our own, help to answer this question, reports H. C. M.
Case of the agricultural economics department, University of Illinois.

If a farmer grows corn, wheat, oats and soybeans, and a price of 90 percent of parity is guaranteed for corn alone, which crop or crops will the farmer try to produce the most of?

Probably nearly every honest person will say corn, believes Case. This reasoning is strictly in keeping with the effort many farmers have made to increase their corn acreage allotments
when they were in force.

Primarily, high fixed prices or price subsidies as used in Europe
are designed to increase production of products in short supply.

Even before World War II, Great Britain subsidized the growing of sugar beets because there was little home sugar supply. During and since the war, prices for certain grain and livestock products have been supported. The supports did increase the supply, but available supplies were still far short of domestic demand.

These experiences and others
can be interpreted in only one way, points out Case. High fixed prices or subsidies have been used successfully to increase production in other countries. There is no good reason why they will not have the same results here.

With this line of reasoning it is possible to see why products receiving high fixed price supports have developed the largest surplus stocks. High-priced-supported cotton, wheat, corn and butter, for example, are the ones in greatest surplus.

The large surpluses of these commodities now tend to depress market prices. A just conclusion seems to be that the more of these commodities that are stored up because of high fixed price supports, the more the market will be depressed by the increased surpluses in storage.

More and Less

The United States produces more than it consumes of coal, petroleum, copper, lead, and salt, but uses more than it produces of iron ore,

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Commercial strawberry growers
in the Centralia-Irvington area have been busy the past week or two mulching berry fields. This should be the signal for others in southern Illinois who have not already done so to get berry plants covered for the winter.

Strawberries may be mulched almost any time in late November
or early December in this area
where sudden and wide variations in temperature may cause damage. The mulch protects the ground and plants against both heavy freezing and the compari-tively high temperatures that occasionally come during the winter.
Thus the plant is protected from heaving and crown injury so that it comes out in the spring in better condition for producing a good crop of fruit.

Several materials may be used for mulching, but straw is recommended—and used almost exclusively by commercial growers in the area. Leaves and sawdust which sometimes are suggested as substitute mulches, either tend to pack too tightly or to blow from the plants during windy days. Hay and grass bring the problem of too much growth of foreign plants in the berry fields in the spring.

Straw has the advantage of being light in weight and color and of lying loosely on the plants so that they have ventilation as well as insulation from the air pockets in the straw mulch. Some sunlight will penetrate the straw to keep plants healthy, but enough will be reflected so that there will not be undue growth before the danger of fruit loss from spring freezing
has been considerably lessened.

Most straw comes in baled form today because the days of the old straw stacks are gone. The binder and threshing machine have given way to the combine for harvesting grain crops on the farm.

It is best to obtain bales of straw which have been stacked in the open or have been exposed to rain.
If not, it is a good idea to leave the bales lying outside for a time until grain seeds that may have remained in the straw can germinate before the mulch is spread. Otherwise the grain may become a nuisance when it begins growing in the berry field next spring. Persons with small garden plots of strawberries usually may obtain a bale or two of straw from the local feed store. Commercial growers arrange for supplies from neighboring grain farmers or use straw from their own grain crops.

In southern Illinois, straw mulch

needs to be spread evenly deep enough to completely cover the berry plants. This amounts to two or three tons of straw per acre.
When growth begins in the spring,
excess straw may be raked from the plants to the space between the rows and there perform a threefold function. It will conserve moisture if there is a dry spell; it will reduce weed growth in the berry field; and it will protect the fruit
as well as the pickers from soiling by contact with the ground during the harvest season.

Illinois Second In National Milk Program

Illinois has the second highest number of schools taking part in the nationwide special school milk program, according to a report released by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Only state to have more schools participating is California. Others in the top 10 in order are New York, Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas.

In the school year of 1954-55, approximately 500 schools in 95 Illinois counties won certificates of merit for having attained the minimum goal of 1-2 pint daily or 45
quarts annually per student.

R. W. Bartlett of the University of Illinois department of agricultural economics, chairman of the state Committee on More Milk in Schools, called this record an excellent showing and one of which committee members were proud.

Certificates of merit will be given this year for schools that attain the goal of 45 quarts annually per student but that did not attain it last year.

Everyone who has helped to promote the program in Illinois is to be commended for putting Illinois next to the top in the United States, Bartlett says. Under this program last year 451 million half-pints of milk were consumed.

For Men Only—How To Care for Hats

NEW YORK — Rabbits are scarce, so hat prices are on the rise. Here are some tips on preserving men's hats from an expert, Thomas Begg, hatter:

Don't let a hat accumulate dust. One drop of rain and you have a hard-to-remove mud spot. Brush daily with the nap, using a medium bristled clothes brush. (Never use a whisk broom.)

Don't use dry cleaning fluids on spots. Doing this always leaves a ring. Use a dry rubber sponge. Don't place your hat on a shelf unless brim overhangs the edge. This keeps brim from buckling. Turn leather sweat band out overnight during warm weather. This dries hat and prevents staining.

Push out creases, round out dents, turn up brim and stand rain soaked hat on leather until it dries naturally. Don't use artificial heat. Don't continually snap hat brim for it will cause shape loss. Hold hat by the brim, front and back, when placing it on the head. This will keep crown crease from popping out.

Store hat in hat box between seasons and keep away from heated radiators. Panamas should always be kept in a cool place during the winter.

Finally, when checking your hat make certain it is not thrown in a heap with other hats. Which is easier said than done, if some popular New York gathering places are any example.

Ambrosia is the scientific name of ragweed, the plant which gives people hay fever.

Shawneetown Wins, 67-45, to Top Conference As Galatia Loses, 77-58

The Shawneetown Indians, defending champions of the Greater Egyptian conference, today stand alone at the top of the loop standings, as the result of play Friday night.

Until last night Shawneetown and Galatia had matched victories and shared the league's top spot with five wins and no losses.

Shawneetown continued its unbeaten way Friday, winning from Pope County 67-45, but Galatia topped before Rosiclare, 77-58.

In the only other conference game Vienna paid a visit to Equality and won a thriller, 56-55.

Ridgway went outside the conference and dropped a 76-62 decision at Enfield. Ridgway held a slight lead after the first quarter, then faltered and trailed the rest of the way. Hart of Enfield was the game's high scorer with 26.

Mills paced Ridgway with 20 marks. Ridgway took the preliminary game 50-40.

Well Balanced Attack

Shawneetown, after a slow start, began to roll in the second quarter and held the upper hand throughout the last three periods. After one quarter of play the score was tied at 6-6. Shawneetown outscored Pope County 20-15 in the second period, held a 19-12 advantage in the third and won going away with a 22-12 spread in the final frame, for a final count of 67-45.

Shawneetown showed a well balanced attack, Drake hitting for 22 points, Nolen counting 18 and Gunzel 10. Green was the big noise for Pope County, scoring 15 marks.

Rosiclare, in showing Galatia out of the unbeaten class, held a safe advantage after each quarter of play. Rosiclare led 20-10 at the quarter, 36-22 at halftime, 52-33 after three quarters and the final score was 77-58.

Tate Scores 39 Points

John Tate of Galatia was the top scorer of the game, connecting for 11 field goals and 17 free tosses for a total of 39 points.

D. Seay, with 22 points was tops for Rosiclare, closely followed by Conger's 18 and McGuire's 16.

The game was marked by considerable fouling, Galatia being whistled 28 times and 21 fouls being called on Rosiclare.

Equality, definitely the underdog due to lack of height, played its best game of the season and almost upset Vienna.

At the half Equality led 28-24 and after three quarters was in front 42-30. At one time late in the last frame Equality held a big 10-point lead, but Vienna rallied to win by a single point, 56-55.

Rosiclare Milligan paced Equality with 25 marks. Yandell of Vienna was the game's leading scorer with 28.

Marion Edges Mt. Vernon, 71-70, on Rams' Floor; Orphans Beat W. Frankfort

By United Press

Galesburg nosed out Rock Island 55-53 and Marion nipped Mount Vernon 71-70 in two thrillers on the Illinois high school Friday night basketball card.

Last year's big two of the Big Eight Conference, Rockford West and Elgin, finalists at the Sweet Sixteen, gained easy victories. West outclassed Rochelle 83-42, while Elgin also made its record 4-1 with a 74-58 win over De Kalb's Barbs, now 2-1.

Galesburg, unbeaten in four outings, was facing a Rock Island club which had won four straight and was again ranked as the chief northwest threat to Moline.

Belleville Breezes to Win

It was an upset for Marion, which beat Mount Vernon on its home floor. The Wildcats had dropped their first three games while the Rams had conquered their opponents.

The Centralia Orphans beat West Frankfort, 57-52, and Harrisburg defeated Benton, 64-59, in South Seven contests, and Herrin tripped Johnston City, 53-40.

Shawneetown, a Sweet Sixteen

contestant last year, beat Pope County, 67-45.

Alton got by Edwardsville 61-59, while Belleville had an easy time against Granite City, winning 62-48 in the southwest. Collinsville trounced Madison handily 85-65.

Lincoln looked most impressive over the Big 12 conference, running over Peoria Manual 61-40. In-and-out Decatur blasted Bloomington 76-54, and Danville downed Urbana 62-57.

Charleston handed a strong quintette from little Oblong their second loss in six games 58-54. In another Eastern conference headliner, Robinson raced over Kansas 81-66.

Flora Defeats Fairfield

Flora's Wolves bounced back in North Egypt play, 69-55 against Fairfield. Lawrenceville defeated a weaker-than-usual Mount Carmel club 63-71. Salem looked dangerous in downing Bridgeport 76-62.

Hillsboro slipped down a rung in the Mid-State conference race in a 58-54 upset by Pana. Loop leader Greenville romped by Shelbyville 85-53.

Dr. Joyce Brothers is Happy She Was Wrong in Picking Olson to Win

Editors Note: Dr. Joyce Brothers, comely blonde psychologist, won "The $64,000 Question" TV show by answering questions about boxing. In the following dispatch, written for the United Press, she put her knowledge of boxing to work as a reporter for the first time, covering the Bobo Olson-Ray Robinson middleweight championship bout Friday night.

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS
Written for the United Press
CHICAGO 10—I couldn't have been more wrong. And I couldn't be happier about being wrong.

I thought for sure Bobo Olson would win, which shows what sort of fight expert I am. But I guess a lot of other people guessed wrong too.

It was a thrilling victory for Sugar Ray. He did what no other man in modern boxing history has done. He retired as champion of his weight class and came back to regain his title.

So they'll have to rewrite that boxing adage, the one that says, "They don't come back." They do come back, or at least Sugar Ray did.

An Historic Moment

So his knockout victory was really an historic moment and I was thrilled to have been there at ringside.

They say that pound for pound Robinson was the best fighter in the last quarter of a century. Judging by the way he fought Friday night, perhaps he still is.

He seemed to be the calmest person in Chicago Stadium. I was impressed by the way he relaxed in the clinches, as if conserving his strength.

He went about his task like the old pro he is, and when he saw his chance he took it.

By contrast, Bobo seemed a little jittery. He even seemed that way at the weigh-in Friday.

The first round seemed very close, but I thought Robinson took it on points, 10 to 9.

He was ducking and slipping punches beautifully, and if his foot work and reflexes have slowed it certainly wasn't apparent Friday night.

From the historical point of view it's interesting to note that two other middleweights regained their titles, but not after retiring. Those two were Tony Zale, who was introduced to the crowd Friday night and Stanley Ketchel, my favorite fighter although he was considerably older before my time.

Big Youth Advantage
I picked Olson to win Friday night because he had such a big advantage in youth. I'm glad I wasn't that wrong on "The $64,000 Question."

Speaking of television, it brings the fights to millions who couldn't

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON who recaptured the middleweight crown from Carl (Bobo) Olson with a knockout in the second round.

Robinson KO's Bobo Olson in Second Round

Recaptures Title For Second Time; Was 3-1 Underdog

CHICAGO 10—Sugar Ray Robinson, still amazed and delighted at the quick knockout over Carl (Bobo) Olson that made him the first middleweight ever to win the world championship three times, said today, "It seems almost like a miracle."

He added, "I'm a Christian. I did the best I could and left the rest to God."

At 35, he scored the most glorious victory of his long career Friday night on an upset knockout over 27-year-old Olson at 2:51 of the second round before 12,441 wildly yelling fans in Chicago Stadium and recaptured the 160-pound crown for the second time.

His second thwarting of the ancient ring axiom: "They never come back," was achieved at the very hour when life seemed darkest for him.

Shortly before the fight, he was tagged with an $87,000 federal tax lien, and Chicago newspapers were front-paging the gangland slaying of his former business associate, Alex Louis Greenberg.

Robinson and Joe Louis a few years ago had the Detroit distributing rights for Greenberg's Canadian Ace Brewing Co.

The slender Negro with the little mustache went into the ring a 3-1 underdog because most experts and betting men thought "his legs were gone" and that he could not go 15 rounds in the nationally televised and broadcast fight against the aggressive Hawaiian-born Bobo from San Francisco.

But Robinson didn't let Olson last long enough to answer the $64,000 question about the legs. He rocked Bobo early in the second round with a right to the chin, and staggered him a minute later in an exchange with a left hook to the jaw. Then he began barraging Bobo and finally dropped him with a left hook and a smashing right to the jaw. The explosive right blasted Bobo to his back on the canvas.

Game Bobo writhed about on the floor but was unable to lift himself as referee Frank Sikora waved the 10-count above him. He suffered the third knockout and eighth defeat of his career in the fourth defense of the crown.

The noisy crowd of 12,441 paid a gross rate of $39.725 for the fight, which was blacked out, on television on a 150-mile radius. In addition, the TV-radio fee was $75,000. Olson's 35 per cent of all net receipts amounted to $66,475, and Robinson's 25 per cent was $47,482.

Contracts provide that Olson will get a return shot at the title within 90 days. Each will receive 30 per cent of the net receipts. However, manager Sid Flaherty said he was uncertain whether Olson would be ready to take the return shot in 90 days unless his marital difficulties have been settled satisfactorily soon.

It was Ray's 137th victory in 144 fights, and his greatest. His previous triumphs included a 12th round knockout over Olson in October, 1950, and a decision over him on March 13, 1952.

First Victory for Local Squad, Play at Carrier Mills Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs broke into the win column by defeating the Benton Rangers, 64 to 59, in a South Seven conference basketball game played last night at Davenport gym.

The bench came to the floor to help the locals score 40 points in the last half and finish the game on top. Ronnie Williams and Bill Henshaw, who did not start, entered the game because of fouls on Wayne Stone and Tony Beal and scored 28 points between them, 23 in the last two periods.

In these two boys, who had not been too spectacular in the first two games, played well on the floor as well as in the shooting department.

The Bull Dogs, who travel to Carrier Mills tonight for a county contest, jumped to 500 in the conference by winning. The loop loss is to Herrin.

Locals Take Early Lead
Coach Gene Bland of Harrisburg started Wayne Stone and Tony Beal at forwards, Bryan Jones at center and Bennie Fulkerson and Don McGowan at guards.

The locals jumped to an 11-4 lead at the outset and led 15-9 at the end of the first quarter. In this period Benton made only one field goal, Harrisburg two, the remaining points coming on free throws.

In the second period Benton tied the count at 17-17, then jumped ahead, 21-17 before Harrisburg could collect itself and narrow the gap to 25-24, Benton leading, at halftime.

The two teams played on even terms the first three minutes of the third quarter. Then Harrisburg took a lead which the locals never relinquished the rest of the game.

At the end of the third period the count was 46-38 and the lead was increased to 50-38 early in the final stanza. Benton narrowed the gap but could not catch up with Harrisburg.

Benton Coach Ralph Davison started Rice, Richardson, Ross, Thomas and Melvin and used 14 players in the game. Bland used nine.

NOT BY ACCIDENT

A baby doesn't "just happen." He is created through a slow and intricate process designed by God.

Neither does a delinquent "just happen." He, too, is created—gradually—by little wrongs and big, all human-caused.

Insecurity, improper associates or environment and lack of love often push a child into developing criminal tendencies.

Neglect, lack of guidance, lack of education and religious training will cause him to weaken and become sick morally and spiritually.

Responsible mothers and fathers will endeavor to protect their children from these evils. They will love a child. They will supervise his activities, and see that he has adequate religious education.

They will see that he goes regularly to Sunday School and Church, and they'll go along with him.

As a responsible parent, be sure that you create a Christian—not a criminal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'My Neighbor'

Luke 10:25-27
GOLDEN TEXT: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." (Luke 10:27)

INTRODUCTION — During World War I any person living in the United States, who happened to be of German descent, was often called, "that dirty Hun." During World War II the Japanese living here were sometimes called, "those dirty Japs." Most always the language was even stronger than that.

When Jesus walked in human shoes and in a human body here on earth, this same kind of a feeling existed between the Jews and the Samaritans. When they would meet on the road they would spit at each other and hurl evil remarks at one another. There was much hatred between the Jews and Samaritans.

Sometimes preachers today are criticized if they preach on one of the Christian graces, instead of some phase of salvation. Jesus was a practical preacher. He laid much stress on the Christian graces. He had much to say about what a person's attitude should be toward his fellowman. This is a vital part of Christian character. If you have the wrong attitude toward people of other races, then you lack in Christian character.

THE LAWYER'S QUESTION (Luke 10:25)
"What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" This question came from the lips of a learned lawyer. He has many followers today. There are many followers today who have a kind of interest in religion. They like to sample the preaching of all the churches and develop their own pet theories.

Man has wondered about and sought for life eternal since the beginning of time. Every living human being has within his being something that tells him that this life is not all. He knows that there is a life after this one. He, also, knows that not all people will go to the same place in the life to come.

II OBEEDIENCE TO THE LAW (Luke 10:26-29)

1. JESUS' QUESTION — Jesus answered the lawyer's question first by asking him a question: "What is written in the Law? How readest thou?"

Jesus would not have dealt with another person in this manner. He was dealing with a shrewd mind. Jesus knew just how to approach the lawyer. It is a well known fact among psychologists today that not every person may be dealt with in the same way.

2. LAWYER'S ANSWER — "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." This answer is a lawyer's summation of all the Law found in Deuteronomy 6:5; 10:12. It is really the very thing that Jesus had been teaching all over that country.

3. JESUS' REPLY — "Thou hast answered right. This do, and thou shalt live." Let us be sure of one thing right here. Jesus was not saying that any person can have eternal life by just being a good person. He knew that no human being would ever be able to live up to the Law. Perfect obedience of the Law is an absolute impossibility. All of us must have help. Jesus, himself, is the One who can make up the difference between what we are and what we should be. In Him, and Him only, is there found perfection.

III THE GOOD SAMARITAN (Luke 10:30-35)

This parable which Jesus told to emphasize his point is familiar to all. It is the story of the man who went from Jerusalem down to Jericho and fell among thieves. He was beaten, robbed, and left bleeding on the highway.

1. THE PRIEST—This man was not only a Jew, like the bleeding victim, but he was, also, a representative of the Jews. He held a high position. However, he felt that his duties did not call upon him to tend to the needs of a bleeding man beside the road. He passed him by. There are many people today who are passing by opportunities of service, simply because they feel that these are beyond their call to duty.

2. THE LEVITE — This man was an assistant in the Temple services. His position was not as high as that of the priest, but his responsibility to his neighbor was equally as great. He not only came by, but he saw the beaten, bleeding man, and passed by. How many there are today who close their eyes to opportunities to serve their neighbor.

3. THE SAMARITAN — "When he saw him he was filled with compassion." It made no difference to this man that the victim was a Jew. This was no time for prejudice. He supplied the beaten man's every need. He thought only of the stranger's need from the time he found him.

CONCLUSION — (WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?) Luke 10:36-37.

The lawyer in this lesson learned that his neighbor did not consist only of those with the same blood as his. He learned that his neighbor was any person in need, no matter what nationality, race or creed might be his. Christ met the needs of all whom he met. He meets the needs of all the world today through those who truly follow him today.
